THE EVACUATION OF ILOILO.

Second City in the Philippine Islands

INSURGENTS ARE FAIRLY QUIET

They Have Established a Municipal Government—Dewey Wants a Statesman Sent Over.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Manila, Dec. 29—The facts concerning the occupation of Iloilo, the second city in the Philippines, by the insurgents, were received today. The American expedition, commanded by Brigadier General Miller, arrived there yesterday and found the Spaniards had evacuated on Saturday on board the steamer Ohuranca and had been transferred to the Island Miniinao. In accordance with an agreement arrived at with the insurgents, the Filippinos entered Iloila and occupied the trenches on Monday, established a municipal government and placed guards over foreign property.

The insurgents are fairly quiet and orderly, although there is some looting at night. The five natives shot, is having an exemplary effort upon the rest. The only foreign warship there, is the German second-class cruiser Irene.

The new Filippino cabinet is composed of president and minister of foreign affairs, Mabani; Minister of war, Luna; Minister of Interior, Arrana; Minister of Agriculture and commerce, Buonamino.

DEWEY'S OPINION.

Washington, Dec. 29—A cable message from Admiral Dewey says a statesman should be sent to Manila to investigate and ascertain the aspirations of the Filippino republicans. He further declares that we must accept our responsibilities.

STARS AND STRIPES RAISED.

Cubans Told The Flag Meant Freedom For Them.

By Cable to the Telegram.

Havana, Dec. 29—Col. Seyburn, of the 202nd New York, raised the American flag over the municipal building in Mariel in the presence of a number of notables. In his speech he said, all Cubans ought to unite with us to recreate Cuba, and said the flag meant freedom. Rations were issued to five hundred poor. The event was celebrated by a ball. Sixteen hundred Spaniards started to Guanamajay yesterday.

No Clue to the Murderer.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Dec. 29—There is yet no clue to the person who mailed the deadly poison to Harry Cornish, of the Knickerbocker Atlantic Club, which was taken with fatal effect by Mrs. Adams, at whose house he roomed. The poison was sent in a bromo seltzer bottle. The police are taking every step to apprehend the murderer. The handwriting on the package mailed was pronounced by experts to be feminine.

Disquieting Situation Developing.

By Cable to the TELEGRAM.

London, Dec. 29—A disquieting situation is developing at Johannesburg. According to latest advices the place is seething with discontent, as on the eve of the Jamison raid, in consequence of recent and proposed government measures, which are regarded as being a fresh series of impositions. Racial animosity is becoming intense on account of the vexatious treatment of British Indian and Cape boys.

Cashier Arrested.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM

Colebrook, N. H., Dec. 29—Harry Bailey, cashier of the Colebrook National Bank, was arrested today for violation of banking laws in allowing depositors to overdraw their accounts. He has borne a good reputation and his looseness is attributed to too friendly feeling for some of the depositors, ten of whom had overdrawn $34,000. The loss will be made good.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU.
HIGH POINT, N. C. Dec. 29

The tragic death of Miss Eleanor Stanback, daughter of Mr. J. F. Stanback, of Trinity, here yesterday was one of the most horrible accidents that has ever occurred in this community. All of the afternoon great throngs of people were standing on the streets discussing the sad incident. The unfortunate lady was about seventeen years of age, the picture of health, was a very amiable and popular young lady, had many friends in this and Randolph counties who mourn her sudden departure. The remains were taken to her home last night on a special train, where they will be laid in their last resting place today. We with the entire community extend to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy.

Ex-Congressman Fred A. Woodard and wife passed through this morning enroute to Trinity to attend the funeral of Miss Eleanor Stanback, whose sad death occurred here yesterday afternoon. The unfortunate young lady was a neice of Mrs. Woodard.

About twenty horses were sold at auction here yesterday by Henkel, Craig & Co., of Lenoir, at prices from $20.00 to $100.

Mr. Wm. Fleming Norman, of South Boston, Va. and Miss Estelle Curlee, of this place, were married here yesterday at 12 o'clock m., at the home of the bride by Rev. J. W. Goodman of the Presbyterian church. Many beautiful and costly presents were presented by friends. One of the nicest presents was from the Snow Lumber Co. Mr. Norman is the manager of the Snow Lumber Co's. planing mills at Steeds. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Jno. S. Campbell, of this place.

Jno. T. Haney and Miss Dora Roach, of this place, and Edward L. Foster, of Rowan county, and Miss Minnie L. Crawford, late of same county but now of this place, were married here yesterday and last night by Magistrate W. B. Steele.

Mr. J. W. Sechrest is confined to his room with the grip.

F. M. Barbee has returned from Lenoir City, Tenn., where he has been for several weeks.

In mentioning the reception to be given tomorrow night by the Young Ladies' Democratic Club complimentary to the democratic young men of this place, and the visiting young ladies, we failed to state that it would be given at the residence of Mr. H. Alexander.

Miss Margaret Callum, of Greensboro, who is so favorably remembered by many friends here, is visiting the Misses Hammer.

There will be a special meeting of the Jr. O. U. A. M. tomorrow night for the election of officers for the ensuing year and other important business. A full attendance is desired.

In speaking of Mr. Hamner's display of fireworks night before last our item read, "Every boy invited." It should have read, "Everybody invited.

Skirmish in East Africa.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Calcutta, Dec. 29—According to advices from the British in east Africa a party of thirty men under command of Lieutenant Harrington was attacked by natives on the 10th of October between Lake Albert and Lake Kioka. Twelve of the party were killed and Lieutenant Harrington and eight others were wounded. Subseqdently the rear guard of the British party repulsed the natives killing about one hundred.

Orders to Recruit.

THE EWART MUDDLE AGAIN

Senator Pritchard Said To Be Slated For Judge,

DISCREDITED IN WASHINGTON.

Arrangements About Complete For The Funeral of Senator Morrill. Will Take Place Saturday.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Dec. 29—The reports coming from North Carolina to the effect that President McKinley will appoint Senator Pritchard judge, in place of Judge Ewart, whose nomination is now pending in the senate, is not believed by North Carolina people coming to Washington. In the event of the appointment of Senator Pritchard to be judge of the federal court, it would make a vacancy in the senate, which, of course, would be filled by a democrat, as the legislature which is about to convene is democratic in both branches. Neither Senator Pritchard nor Governor Russell, it is believed would be willing to allow this to happen, and if they should, President McKinley would not consent to Senator Pritchard relinquishing his seat to a democratic senator from North Carolina at this time. The Senator's term will not expire until March 3rd, 1903

As to the chances of the confirmation of Judge Ewart, there is a difference of opinion among the democrats and republicans from the state. The prospects are it is thought at this time that Ewart will be confirmed, if a vote can be secured on the nomination. Senator Pritchard stated just before the adjournment of congress for the holiday recess that a vote would be reached within a short time after the New Year. The opposition of Senator Butler to confirmation is earnest, but it is thought that several southern senators, including, perhaps, Senator McLaurin, of South Carolina, will vote to confirm the nomination. The opposition being principally political, many southern democratic senators do not think that they are called upon to take a hand in the contest, by favoring one or the other faction of the North Carolina republicans, and will therefore probably vote to confirm Ewart, and put an end to the long controversy over the nomination.

Arrangements for the funeral of the late Senator Morrill have been about completed. The public ceremonies will take place on Saturday morning from the senate chamber, and it is expected that a large concourse of people will be present. President McKinley, members of the cabinet, supreme court justices, and diplomatic corps will be present, and will occupy seats on the floor of the senate. Owing to the absence from the city of both vice-president and speaker, the committee on arrangements has not yet been announced, but will probably be made public today. It is thought both Vice President Hobart and Speaker Reed will come to Washington immediately, so as to be here on Saturday.

Senator Morrill's death, after an illness of only one week, is much regretted by his colleagues in the senate and house. All day yesterday at the residence there was a steady stream of callers. Telegrams were received by the family during the day from a large number of distinguished senators and representatives who have gone to their homes to spend the holidays. To most of the members of the senate the news of the illness and death of Mr. Morrill came as a great surprise, for he was in attendance at the sessions of the senate up to the day of adjournment, and was regarded as being in his usual health.

It is expected that the occasion of the address of Hon. William J. Bryan, before the Virginia Democratic Association, and the banquet under the auspices of the association, on the 22d of February, will be a notable occasion. The demand for invitations to the banquet has been very great. Altogether it is expected that about six hundred invitations will be issued. Among the speakers will be Senator Daniel, of Virginia.

Among North Carolina people in Washington is Dr. Jones, who is spending a portion of the holidays in the city, stopping at the National Hotel.

Messrs. W. M. Cohen, J. Cohen and Eugene Johnston, of North Carolina are in the city for a few days, being registered at the Hotel Raleigh.

R. E. Lasater, of Winston, is at the National Hotel.

Postoffices have been established in North Carolina as follows: Minor, Cabarrus county; Montreat, Buncombe county.

LEGISLATURE MEMORIALIZED.

Baptists Want Appropriations to Public Schools Increased.

Rev. John E. White, the secretary of the Baptist State Mission Board, who has been identified with past movements against state aid to the University, will oppose any attempt to increase the appropriations to higher education. Mr. White will urge the legislature to devote all available funds to the public.

Mr. White is in accord with the Baptist denomination, as the following letter and resolution, which is being forwarded to the General Assembly, will show:

At its recession in Greenville, N. C., the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina unanimously passed the enclosed resolution and memorial, and instructed me, as corrsponding secretary, to place a copy of the same in the hands of each member of the general assembly.

You will allow me to add my earnest plea that the matter it presents will receive, as I am sure it will, primary consideration at the hands of so distinguished a body as the coming general assembly promises to be.

Resolved 1. That the Convention of North Carolina Baptists reaffirm its unalterable faith in Christian education, and its conviction that our Baptist boys and girls should seek their training in Baptist schools and colleges.

2. That as citizens we believe that the state's policy which neglects the common schools—the schools of the people—and appropriates public money for the benefit of the few in higher education, as undemocratic, unjust to taxpayers, unfair to private and denominational beneficence, without excuse, and that the cause of education in all its branches would be greatly advanced by a reversal of that policy.

3. Therefore, exercising our right of petition, we, the Baptist State Convention, respectfully memoralize the legislature soon to assemble to appropriate every available dollar of public money, however small the amount may be, to the improvement of our public schools, and that the policy of progress in this direction be set up and maintained until the reproof of illiteracy be removed from our State, and until the 600,000 boys and girls whose hope for enlightenment is in the public schools, are afforded an opportunity to receive the primary instruction necessary to fit them for the duties of citizenship.—Morning Post.

THE FALL OF A MOUNTAIN.

The Debris of The Avalanche Covers a Square Mile.

London, Dec. 28—Part of the Red Rock Mountain, according to a dispatch from Airolo (a village of Switzerland, Canton of Ticino,) has fallen into Airolo, destroying a hotel and several houses. The scene of the disaster presents a terrible spectacle, the debris of the avalanche covering a square mile. The hotel, with eight houses and twelve other buildings, were swept into a great heap of match wood. A new terror was added by the outbreak of fire amid the ruins.

Three dead bodies have been recovered. It is estimated that the damage will reach 40,000 pounds.

Butler's Action Condemned.

New York, Dec. 28—The Confederate veteran camp of New York has passed a resolution offered by Comrade Beasley, of North Carolina, which says that "the camp condemns in unmeasured terms the effort of Senator Butler, of North Carolina, who is not a Confederate veteran, to debauch the manhood of the south by seeking to obtain pensions for ex-Confederate soldiers from the United States, and that any similar effort by any southern member of congress will be abhorrent to this camp and meet with its unqualified condemnation."

After a Long Absence.

Mr. Geo. F. Walker, of Boggstown, Ind., a native of Guilford county, is visiting his brother, Wm. Walker, near Guilford College. Mr. Walker left this county in 1857 and has only been back once since that time. He was in the city today and says while the land is very rich in Indiana and he has no desire to farm in this country, he sees many improvements made since his departure.

THE COAST LINE THE BIDDER

The Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway Sold

THE PRICE PAID, $3,125,000

The Sale Took Place in Fayetteville This Afternoon—There Were Three Bidders in the Field

Greensboro people have manifested considerable interest in the sale of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railway, which took place in Fayetteville this afternoon. There has been much speculation concerning the sale of late. It has been said that the present receiver of the road, John Gill, being a stockholder in the Seaboard Air Line system had formed a combination with the Baltimore bondholders to buy the road and lease it to the Seaboard. This has been the rumor. Another report or rumor has been to the effect that the Atlantic Coast Line and the Southern were pulling together and had formed a "combine" to beat all other bidders.

The Telegram, however, has been of the opinion that the "longest pole would knock the persimmon" and that seems to have been the case. The sale commenced at 12 o'clock today and ended between one and two. The bidders were: The Southern Railway Co., the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line, the latter becoming the purchaser at $3,125,000. This far exceeds the sum generally thought to be necessary for the purchase of the road.

Men For Dewey.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Philadelphia, Dec. 29—The auxiliary cruiser Yosemite, formerly the Morgan liner El Sol, left League Island navy yard today for Norfolk, and will proceed to Manila with nearly four hundred men for Admiral Dewey's fleet via the Suez canal.

INTEREST ON MONEY.

Commenting on the interest law the Wilmington Messenger makes some lucid points and asks some questions in a philosophical way which it will be hard to answer. We copy the following:

When the interest law was changed by the combine, The Messenger opposed it upon the ground that money ought to bring its value like anything else. That it was unjust discrimination to put a limit on a man's money at 4 or 6 per cent if he let it as money, but if he put it into railroad stocks, or merchandise or farming or futures or in any form of investment, he might lawfully make all the profit he could, whether it was 20, 50 or 100 per cent. The question of morality is not involved in the above manner of statement. It may be immoral to make excessive profits as it may be immoral to gouge or oppress by excessive interest, but is one more immoral than the other? If money is worth 8 per cent.. and a man desiring to use it is willing to pay 8 per cent. because he can afford to bear that interest, we hold it as equitable, as right, as fair as it would be for the owner of the cash to turn it into dry goods or lumber or groceries or medicines and drugs and make the usual average profits. If not,why not? People are compelled to eat, to wear clothing, to take medicine when sick, and to live in houses. Is it a greater iniquity to compel them to pay in interest what money will fetch at a given time, than to pay rounds profits on the articles for consumption? If so, why? What is usury? Is it necessity limited in application of money? Is extortion only applicable to money? We trow not. No one so believes. At present money is a drug—very low. It can be obtained in the north, we think for 3 or 4 per cent. Ought not those who demand the profits of money to be limited by law to 6 per cent. to urge the passage of a law that no one shall borrow money for less than 6 per cent? The law ought to be just—ought to work both ways.

In another column will be found an offer of one hundred dollars reward by the Summit Avenue Building Company for information that will lead to the detection and conviction of the party or parties who recently broke down and destroyed the young trees planted along Summit avenue. We can but sincerely hope the vandals will be detected and severely punished. The man who engages in such wanton destruction of property is scarcely less a fiend than the man who would, without provocation, stab a neighbor in the dark, or stick a torch to his dwelling or store. Such conduct is greatly deplored by all good citizens and all will agree that the perpetrators, to meet the ends of justice, should breathe the air of a prison cell rather than be allowed to run at large and inhale the free atmosphere of the city of flowers.

Dr. Benbow's proposition, as printed in the Record yesterday, that the rock crusher should be kept in constant use from now until every street inside the corporation is complete, will doubtless meet the approval of every citizen of Greensboro. The Telegram heartily endorses the proposition and would suggest that the first work should be to complete and put in good condition the streets leading from the business part of the city to our female colleges. We wish every progressive man in Greensboro could have seen the street leading to the Normal college during the recent wet spell.

The Danville Register was yesterday sold at public auction and bid in by Col. John R. Webster, of Reidsville, for $4,000. It is not stated whether Col. Webster will become editor of the Register or what disposition he will make of it. Being the only daily paper in the progressive city of Danville, the Register, properly managed, should be a good piece of property.

AS TO REDUCING FEES.

Other Expenses That Might Be Cut Off By The Legislature.

The legislature when it meets next week is expected to do much more than it, or any other legislature can do. But one thing it can do, and that is, reduce some of the fees now paid to our officers. This is wherein our fusion legislators most signally failed to do their duty and to fulfill their oft-repeated promises.

Everybody remembers one of the favorite campaign cries of the so-called "reformers" was the promise to "reduce all fees and salaries to correspond with the low prices of farm products." They complained loudly that our public officials were receiving as much for their work as they ever did, while the farmers were not receiving over half as much for their work. But when these pretended "reformers," got the power to keep their promise, they signally failed to do so and did not reduce any fees or salaries.

Now, while the members of our democratic legislature did not make any such promise in the last campaign, yet we would impress upon them the propriety of carefully considering the fees allowed all our public officers and reducing all that seem proper to reduce. And there is no doubt that many fees ought to be reduced. A special committee on the reduction of fees and salaries ought to be appointed by the legislature, and our present fee-bills carefully scanned so that proper reductions may be made.

We will not here attempt to call attention to all the fees that ought to be reduced, but will cite one or two in order to show the propriety, if not the necessity, of this important matter being carefully considered by our legislators. Take as an illustration the office of register of deeds, which is one of the best paying offices in every county. Among the fat fees received by the register is 25 cents for every order issued by the county commissioners, without regard to the amount of the order. For instance, at the last meeting of the commissioners of this county an order was issued to remit 22 cents on the taxes of one of our citizens, and the county had to pay the register 25 cents to record and issue this order!

The register is ex-officio clerk of the board of county commissioners and is paid $2 a day for his services as such, and it does not seem right that he should be paid an additional 25 cents for every order made by them, when usually he issues most of these orders on the same day that they are made. In this way the register of deeds frequently receives $25 for one day's work—and not a hard day's work at that.

Another expense that ought to be cut off as the payment by the county for filling up the blank tax receipts for the sheriff. This work had always been done by the sheriff without extra pay, until the legislature of 1893 ordered the county commissioners to have it done for the sheriff, and each legislature since then has incorporated this useless expense in its revenue act. For this work the counties pay on an average about $100 apiece every year, thus making nearly $10,000 a year paid by the people of North Carolina for having the tax receipts filled up for their sheriffs. Usually any man is glad to fill up, or write, a receipt for any money paid him, and our sheriffs ought to do so just as they always did before 1893.—Chatham Record.

Miles Stirs Up a Beef Company.

Washington, Dec. 27—The Swift Beef Company, of Chicago have forwarded to the war investigating commission a communication taking exceptions to the reflections made by General Miles on the character of the beef furnished the expeditionary forces in the war. Unless something unexpected should develop, however, the commission expects to close its regular sessions before the middle of January, and possibly finish up its work entirely by February 1, so as to submit its report to congress about that time. This is barring a possible broad investigation as to the beef issue.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. 'Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs: cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Two Pointed Questions Answered.

What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you can not get a better price for it?

Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much greater in the aggregate.

How can you get the public to know your make is the best.

If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one.

This explains the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon. They may occasionally take up with some fashionable novelty put forth with exaggerated claims, but are certain to return to the one remedy that they know to be reliable, and for coughs, colds and croup there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by C. E. Holton.

Christmas Day in Billville.

Christmas passed off quietly. Indeed, it was so quiet you could hear a dollar ring half a mile.

Our people are tired of swearing off; but a good, first-class swearer can get a dollar a day in this community until after New Year's.

The social party held on Christmas Eve, was a great success. Only a few guests were wounded—none seriously.

The Literary Society held an interesting meeting Christmas night; several fat hogs, a Roman punch and ten turkeys were discussed.—Atlanta Constitution.

WRECKED THE VESSEL.

A Possible Danger of Steam Jets as Fire Extinguishers.

For many years steam jets have been considered excellent means for extinguishing fires in inclosed spaces, and examples of their good services have been abundant. The theory of their action of course is, like that of the several kinds of fire extinguishing powders which have been proposed at different times, that the steam in the one case and the stifling fumes from the powders in the other displace the air in any particular space under consideration, and with it the oxygen as well, by which alone combustion can be sustained.

In at least one instance, however, the position was taken that if the steam jets did not extinguish a fire promptly they soon became a source of danger, and as such were held accountable for the loss about a year ago of a cargo steamer carrying several hundred tons of coal and as many more of miscellaneous chemicals and old rope. Fire broke out in one of the holds, which were fitted with steam jet fixtures, and the jets were at once turned on. On the day following it was proposed to try a hose in addition to the jets, and one of the upper deck hatches was therefore taken off.

The almost immediate result was a violent explosion, killing one of the officers and seriously injuring another. All the other hatches were blown off at the same time, and the ship began to leak, so that she soon had to be abandoned. One explanation advanced was that the steam from the jets, passing over the incandescent cargo, formed water gas, which, with suitable air admixture, became explosive, with the result noted. The theory is not a comforting one, but whether it portrays a possible condition of things yet remains to be demonstrated.—Cassier's Magazine.

EASY FOR MORPHY.

A Story of the Great Chess Master and a Celebrated Painting.

On reading the notes on Paul Morphy's visit to Philadelphia I am reminded of an incident in connection with his visit to Richmond about the same time, which was related to me some years ago by the Rev. Mr. H. of that city. I do not remember ever to have seen it in print. Mr. Morphy was Mr. H.'s guest while in the city, and on his arrival was first ushered into the library, and his attention was at once attracted by a painting over the mantel, which was a fine copy of a celebrated painting representing a game of chess between a young man and the devil, the stake being the young man's soul.

The artist had most graphically depicted the point in the game where it was apparently the young man's move, and he seemed just to realize the fact that he had lost the game, the agony of despair being shown in every line of his features and attitude, while the devil from the opposite side of the table gloated over him with fiendish delight. The position of the game appeared utterly hopeless for the young man, and Mr. H. said he had often set it up and studied it with his chess friends, and all agreed the young man's game was certainly lost.

Mr. Morphy walked up to the picture and studied it for several minutes, when finally, turning to Mr. H., he said:

"I can win the game for the young man."

Mr. H. was of course astonished and said, "Is it possible?"

Mr. Morphy replied, "Get out the men and board and let us look at it."

The position was set up, and in a few rapid moves he demonstrated a complete win for the young man, and the devil was checkmated.—Robert Munford in American Chess Magazine.

Hungarian Gypsy Minstrels.

The gypsy minstrels form a caste by themselves. Their appearance is always more swarthy than that of other Hungarian musicians, their dress is sometimes purposely fantastic, and their manner of life is far more Bohemian than the most liberal minded artist would care to own to. Every hotel and restaurant in Budapest possesses its gypsy band, and the method of payment is as free and easy as the music itself and their life. The hotel keeper is not bound by any contract, but at various intervals throughout the performance one of his gypsies takes a dinner plate and goes round among the various guests in the hall from table to table, receiving in the plate what the latter like to put there. The favorite coin deposited there is the nickel 10 kreutzer piece, answering to our twopence. I have not often seen a florin or a kronen (half a florin). The whole collection is, as a rule, made up of twopences.—Good Words.

High Officials Take In Washing.

Samoa, Stevenson's island home and grave, is the only country in the world where its rulers and chief justices vie with each other in the honorable work of the laundry. There is no false pride about a chief of Samoa, who will discuss high politics with you one moment and the next make a tender for your washing. What is more, when he has executed the washing to your satisfaction he will ask you to give him a testimonial to that effect, with which to bait succeeding visitors.—New York Journal.

Hospitality.

Lady of the House (to bore, who generally calls just as she is about to go shopping)—Won't you let me ring for a little refreshment for you?

Bore—I think I'll take a little something just before I go.

Lady of the House—Oh, then, do have it now.—London Punch.

Comparisons.

Freddy—My brother George is a head taller than your brother.

Franky—Yes, but my brother is a stomach fatter than yours.—Lustige Blatter.

The Sure La Grippe Cure.

There is no use suffering from this dreadful malady, if you will only get the right remedy. You are having pain all through your body, your liver is out of order, have no appetite, no life or ambition, have a bad cold, in fact are completely used up. Electric Bitters is the only remedy that will give you prompt and sure relief. They act directly on your liver, stomach and kidneys, tone up the whole system and make you feel like a new being. They are guaranteed to cure or price refunded. For sale at C. E. Holton's drug store. Only 50 cents per bottle.

"Detectives."

There are probably not less than a score of men walking about New Orleans today who are decorated under their lapels with large tin stars bearing the cabalistic word "detective." They are patrons of the various private agencies of the north that advertise for "shrewd men as operatives in all parts of the country," and supply the tin star and a beautifully lithographed "certificate" for the trifling sum of $5. The wearers of their insignia labor under the hallucination, as a rule, that they are vested with some special right to collar their fellow men. The same agencies do a land office business in wigs, false beards and other disguises which the amateur sleuth believes firmly are part of the necessary equipment of the profession.

Now and then one of these deluded individuals, who are to be found in all large cities, gets himself into trouble by attempting to make an arrest; but, as a rule, the mania is harmless and its victims confine themselves to prowling through side streets and looking mysterious. They find great joy also in posing in boarding house circles and hearing folks say in awed undertones, "Do you know Mr. So-and-so is a detective?" It is one of the queerest of all queer phases of city life.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Both Are Married.

The ordinary paragrapher in referring to a marriage nearly always says that Mr. John Smith or Mr. James Brown was married to Miss Nellie Green or Miss Fanny White. It would lead one to think that the man only was married, while the fact is both were married. The woman is as much married as the man. The man was not simply married to the woman. The woman and the man were married, and the announcement should be that Mr. So-and-so and Miss So-and-so were married. Rev. Dr. Sunderland wrote a series of articles on this subject some years ago which were published in this city. He laid down the general principle that he did not marry the man to the woman, but that he married the man and the woman, and married one just as much as he did the other. He discountenanced the issuing of wedding cards by parents that their daughter was married to any particular person, and said he did not want to perform any marriage ceremony in which any such announcement was made.—Washington Star.

Peabody and the Boatman.

Many years ago John Bright and George Peabody, the philanthropist, were fishing in a little Irish stream. Late in the evening, after a hard day's work, the party arrived at the landing stage, and Bright, accosting the inevitable policeman on the bank, said:

"What is the proper price to pay these boatmen, constable?"

He replied, "Seven shillings and sixpence, yer honner, but some gintlemen give them 10 shillings."

Bright, turning to his companion, said, "I have no change, Peabody; have you three half crowns?"

The millionaire produced the coins and gave them to one of the boatmen.

"Is that all ye're giving me?" asked the latter.

"That's all," said Peabody.

Holding the coins in the open palm of his hand, and slowly scratching his head with the other, the boatman said:

"And they call ye Paybody, don't they? Well, I call ye Paynobody."—New York Tribune.

Nauseous Doses.

Nauseous medicines nowadays possess none of the terrors that many of us remember when "powders" were given in jam and castor oil in hot milk, as pharmacists have invented no end of ways of giving the nastiest drugs without any flavor at all.

Castor oil, cod liver oil and things of that disagreeable kind are made up in little flexible capsules, which slip down the throat like a strawberry.

These capsules are also made in two parts, so that any one can buy them empty and put the powder or other drug in himself, sealing them and then swallowing them without knowing that the drug has a taste. Then there is the round wafer paper, in which can be inclosed any kind of bolus, pill or powder and which, when moistened, can be swallowed with ease.—New York World.

A Clever Witness.

In a recent county court case in which a man sued another for balance of wages the defendant called a witness.

Witness—I beg pardon, your honor. Before I give my evidence I want my expenses.

Judge (to defendant)—Pay him 7s. 6d.

The defendant having done so, the judge said, "Now that you have had your expenses, what do you know of the case?"

Witness—Nothing at all, your honor.—London Tit-Bits.

Cautious Tennyson.

A clergyman is quoted by Sir M. E. Grant Duff in his memoirs as authority for the story that on the occasion of Hallam's going down to Richmond to be godfather to Tennyson's eldest boy the historian asked, "What is to be the child's name?" "Hallam," answered the poet. "I don't like surnames for Christian names," said the other. "Why not call him Alfred?" "What if he were to turn out a fool?" was the reply.

George IV's Wit.

Mrs. Byrne, in her "Social Hours With Celebrities," tells this anecdote of George IV's wit: "I remember one of the Rev. Mr. Wagner's stories concerned some nobleman who had enjoyed an unenviable reputation for assininity. It had been suggested to the king to confer on him an order of the Thistle, which had become vacant. 'Give the Thistle to ——!' exclaimed the king. 'Why, he'd eat it!'"

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the next general assembly of North Carolina to amend the charter of the city of Greensboro, North Carolina.

John S. Micheaux,
10d4t-law City Clerk.

When you ask for De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve don't accept a counterfeit or imitation. There are more cases of Piles being cured by this, than all others combined. Howard Gardner.

Character In the Eyebrows.

An arched eyebrow does not indicate the highest order of intelligence, but is expressive of great sensibility. Scant growth of the eyebrows denotes lack of vitality. On the contrary, heavy, thick eyebrows indicate a strong constitution and great physical endurance.

They are not beautiful on a woman's face, however much they may signify either mental or bodily vigor, and when they are not only heavy, but droop and meet at the nose, they are disagreeable and are said to accompany an insincere and prying natnre. Long, drooping eyebrows, lying wide apart, indicate an amiable disposition. Where the eyebrows are lighter in color than the hair the indications are lack of vitality and great sensitiveness.

Faintly defined eyebrows placed high above the nose are signs of indolence and weakness. Very black eyebrows give the face an intense and searching expression. When natural, they accompany a passionate temperament. Very light eyebrows rarely are seen on strongly intellectual faces, although the color of the eyebrows is not accepted simply as denoting lack of intelligence. The form gives the key to the faculties and their direction. Red eyebrows denote great fervor and ambition; brown, a medium between the red and black.—Exchange.

A Modern Battleship.

A battleship is not only a floating fortress, but is also a steam power plant of the largest size, with a greater variety and number of engines or machines than is ever dreamed of by the uninitiated. Of all this combination there is no portion that can be permitted to remain in a state of repose for any length of time without endangering its effective action when the emergency arises for which it was designed. It is only by constant use that they can be kept perfectly efficient.

On an armored cruiser like the Brooklyn of the United States navy, taking her as a sample of an up to date warship, between a battleship and an ordinary cruiser, there are altogether 81 separate engines, having a total of 156 steam cylinders.

Add in imagination to this number, imposing in itself, the vast quantity and extent of steam, exhaust and water piping needed to connect all these engines to the boilers, condensers and water systems, the thousands of valves to be kept workable and efficient. Then include the seven great boilers, capable of evaporating into steam, under forced draft, 185 tons of water an hour, and one can begin to comprehend the vastness of the steam plant of a modern ship.—Cassier's Magazine.

India Rubber.

Not a little singular is the fact noted by chemists that, contrary to the general belief, natural india rubber is not waterproof. Indeed since the article has to be dried to be freed of its moisture the conclusion is obvious that it will absorb moisture again, and, according to experiments mentioned by E. Schulze in the Gummi Zeitung, it does so with certain rapidity.

It is found that rolled rubber plates, which by virtue of their treatment are in a somewhat compressed condition, absorb from 8 to 25 per cent of water in two hours. When the water is heated to about 120 degrees F., at increased pressure, the absorption takes place much more readily, and a piece of rubber, kept in a cylinder under a pressure of 140 pounds, absorbed 25 per cent of water in five minutes.

Oils, of course, stop the water. Vulcanized rubber remains dry, though not entirely so, and badly vulcanized goods deteriorate, owing to this reason. Schulze kept a plate of the best Para rubber in water not above 110 degrees F., and after 2½ months it had become a hopeless, smeary mass.

The Elaborate Chinese Novel.

It is a proof of the high degree of elaboration to which fiction literature in China has been carried that most of their novels are thickly interspersed with poems of all orders of merit. No stronger evidence could be afforded of the fact that whatever they lack it is not literary finish. If anything, they have this in excess. These poems are introduced in a variety of ways. The hero sends one in a billet doux to the heroine, or he overhears her singing one or perhaps a poetic contest is struck up, the fine on defeat being generally the compulsory drinking of so many extra flagons of wine. Wine drinking and poetizing almost invariably go together in Chinese novels, though whether they do so in real life we are unable to say. Above all things, every man who sets up to be anything in the way of a hero in Chinese fiction must be prepared to extemporize by the ream in inimitable poetry.—Rev. G. F. Candlin in Open Court.

Punishment.

"The idea of sending children to bed early to punish 'em!" exclaimed Mrs. Corntossel, who was discussing her city relatives. "That ain't any way to o'rect 'em."

"Of course it ain't," answered her husband. "If you want to convince 'em that you mean business, make 'em get up an hour or so earlier in the morning." Washington Star.

Sure of Game.

Fox—There is one thing that I can say for Badger; whenever he goes shooting his family is sure of game.

Knox—Why, is he such a good shot?

Fox—No; but it really doesn't make any difference whether he shoots anything or not, for if he doesn't get any game his wife makes game of him. Boston Courier.

In one of Carlyle's private letters sold in London recently he says: "Oliver Cromwell had no squint, stare or deficiency of any kind in the eyes of him One eye, probably the left—but I am not sure—was considerably bigger than the other."

Pains in the chest when a person has a cold indicate a tendency toward pneumonia. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on to the chest over the seat of pain will promptly relieve the pain and prevent the threatened attack of pneumonia. This same treatment will cure a lame back in a few hours. Sold by C. E. Holton.

Admiral Walker, chairman of the Nicaragua Canal commission, says the commission will report that the construction of the canal is feasible.

Unfortunate Mary Wollstonecraft.

Conspicuous among the brilliant and beautiful women of her time was the lovely and every way unfortunate Mary Wollstonecraft Godwin, the first agitator of the question of "woman's rights." No woman, with the exception of Mme. de Stael, made so great an impression on the public mind. Her new and startling doctrines were seized with an avidity scarcely credible at this day, and her famous book, "The Vindication of the Rights of Women," was the theme of the most universal praise and abuse.

Thomas Paine, the author of "The Rights of Man," was one of her familiar acquaintances, but their intercourse was an argument, their views neither on this subject nor any other coinciding. In these arguments Paine either lost his temper or became sulky, and the woman champion won an easy victory.

Until her marriage with Mr. Godwin she was the friend of Mrs. Siddons, but she, with the majority of her admirers, declined to sanction this union, for she had married some years before an American called Imlay, to whom she had been a most devoted wife. The man, however, took advantage of the fact that the marriage was only a civil one, performed in Paris, and deserted her. She then married Mr. Godwin, but this act placed her in a position no charity could explain away. Death, however, soon covered her faults with a pitiful oblivion. She left an infant daughter a few hours old, who afterward became the wife of Percy Bysshe Shelley.—Exchange.

Those Black Eyes.

"The small son of the people," says the Philadelphia Record, "and his little sister were inside the great West Philadelphia church for the first time. 'Um—m—my! but it's a beaut place,' he whispered. 'I bet people wot belong here comes every time dey can.' Her breath came to her in little gasps. Her soiled little finger pressed on his with thrilled intensity. Her eyes feasted on the splendid chancel. 'Heaven mus' be nex' door,' she said. They hardly moved throughout the service, and never once let go each other's hands, for it was as a strange land. At last the sweet voiced procession of choir boys came down the aisle. At its head was a slim young seraph, with a face as fair and pure as the linen he wore. Faint, dark circles beneath his eyes completed the ethereal effect.

"'Is dem angels?' the little girl began, but stopped short, surprised at the look on her brother's face.

"'Dat kid in front's Bill Griggs, wot I licked last week fer swipin' t'ings from ole Mrs. Maguire's apple stand. He ain't got over dem black eyes I gev 'im yet. Come on, let's git out.' His face was stern and set as they went. She furtively wiped a tear."

Field and the Street Arabs.

McClure's Magazine relates the following anecdote of Eugene Field, whose fondness for children was his dominant trait:

Never was a man more devoted to his wife. Nevertheless on the day that made her his he was guilty of keeping her waiting for him at the church. The bridal party had assembled and were rapidly becoming uneasy. At length, after an anxious delay, some one went out in search of the missing bridegroom.

He was found on the street a short distance away, down on his knees in the mud, absorbed in settling a dispute between two small street arabs, which had arisen over a game of marbles. Listening with eager interest to the testimony vociferated at either ear by the belligerent parties and their friends and trying to evolve a peace compromise out of a very lively quarrel, he was abruptly reminded that just then he had something more important to attend to, and hastened penitently away to make his anxious bride Mrs. Field.

She Was Unduly Excited.

Bishop Selwyn was a hard worker and never spared himself. He was one day seizing an hour's much needed sleep on the bench of a little roadside station in Derbyshire, en route for a confirmation. A lady of some social distinction and her daughter were on their way to the same rite, the daughter as a confirmee. They went to the solitary porter and said they were afraid to pass the drunken man on the platform, to which the porter replied in tones of much solemnity, "If you please, my lady, it's the lord bishop!"—Mainly About People.

England's "Rose Regiment."

The custom of wearing roses in their headgear by the Lancashire regiment on the anniversary of the battle of Minden originated in a curious manner. On the day of the battle, Aug. 1, 1759, the men passed through a field of roses, each man plucking a rose and placing it in his bonnet, wearing the flower during the fight. This commenced the custom which obtains at the present day of wearing roses on the anniversary of the battle.

The Sultan's Throneroom.

The throneroom of the sultan at Constantinople is a gorgeous sight. The gilding is unequaled by any other building in Europe, and from the ceiling hangs a superb Venetian chandelier, the 200 lights of which make a gleam like that of a veritable sun. At each of the four corners of the room tall candelabra in baccareat glass are placed, and the throne is a huge seat covered with red velvet, and having arms and back of pure gold.

Rosebery's Definition of Memory.

Here is a joli mot of Lord Rosebery's—would one ever expect mots from Lord Rosebery?—told in our garden by a woman who heard him say it at a dinner. Some one asked him what memory was. "Memory," said Lord Rosebery, "is the feeling that steals over us when we listen to our friends' original stories."—Harper's Bazar.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

Mr. G. W. Koiner Leaves

In the departure of Mr. G. W. Koiner and family, Greensboro loses a good citizen and splendid neighbors. Mr. Koiner moved to Greensboro from Virginia about twelve months ago, and was well pleased with the success he made in business here, but having been recently appointed commissioner of agriculture for Virginia, he decided to go back to his native state. He and his family left on No. 36 today for Richmond. We wish them success and happiness in their new home.

The Greensboro Patriot's Forthcoming Special Edition.

The Telegram is always glad to advocate any enterprising effort that is destined to work to the benefit of our city whether it be that of a newspaper or otherwise and in that spirit it is pleased to give notice to the handsome industrial edition now being compiled by the Greensboro Patriot.

The Patriot certainly intends to break all records in turning out an edition that will be the most elegant piece of journalism ever issued from this part of the south in which every subject of principal interest will be carefully described and illustrated.

There is of course a right and a wrong way of doing everything, the most beautifuf and expensive editions, if carelessly thrown about will bring but little return, but in this direction, the Patriot seems to be in the right track, for it guarantees the careful distribution of the ten thousand copies into the hands of as many interested parties.

Such an effort cannot fail to bring results.
